Abstract

Brexit represents a key moment for British politics. Since the 2016 referendum, there have been two snap elections, three Prime Ministers, the biggest ever defeat for the Government in the Commons, high levels of electoral volatility, and extraordinary territorial tensions. Adapting Arendt Lijphart's framework on the models of democracy, the research investigates how the process of Brexit impacts on the UK's political and institutional set-up.

The seminar will be held in-person and online via MS Teams.
